He was too (1) sensitive/sensible to be an engineer because he (2) prevented/avoided expressing his opinions during projects in case he was wrong. He (3) managed/succeeded to do his job well apart from that, but he always felt nervous and was not (4) fond/keen on teamwork.

Most of us are (5) familiar/aware with the situation of (6) borrowing/lending someone a DVD or book and then never receiving it back. The borrower doesn't even (7) refer/mention to it for weeks until you finally ask about it. They say they will watch or read it so you (8) regret/forgive them and even (9) although/though they say this, you end up (10) insisting/persuading on having the DVD/book back after a further six months.

In the metro, you can see the (11) note/notice on the wall saying, 'Not paid for your ticket? Fine by me....£50.' (12) Besides/beside this, if the police catch you a second time, you can be (13) charged/accused of not paying and face a suspended prison sentence. However, this is (14) hard/hardly fair as it is sometimes easy to lose your sense of (15) direction/directions on the underground and not pay by mistake.
